Carrier Acceptance of DE9C Quarterly Wage Reports

The chart below reflects a monthly guide for carriers' acceptability of each quarter DE9C provided for groups applying for coverage. It is based on the time frame the state allows groups to file their quarterly wage report. For example, if a group applying for coverage submits their case in January, the carrier would accept a 3rd or 4th quarter DE9C for the previous year as proof of eligibility since the third quarter is currently available and groups have until the end of January to file 4th quarter. If a group applying for coverage did not submit their case until February, the carrier would only accept the 4th quarter DE9C for the previous year as the group should have filed this on January 31st or prior.
